Breeze Profile: The Alonsos

by Carol Barker

Leo and Betty Alonso, who live in Fairfax, Virginia, began frequenting Lake Anna in 1980 as weekend boaters. On a whim, they bought a Wellcraft motor boat and everyone suggested the best place for skiing would be Lake Anna. This was the beginning of a long relationship with the lake. In 1984, they purchased their first home in Child's Cove. After a downturn in their business, that house was sold, but replaced in 2004 with their current home at Hairfields Cove off of Pigeon Run. Marisa (35) and Vivian (31), their two daughters, grew up and have many wonderful lake memories of pig roasts (the Alonsos are Cuban), fireworks on the dock, Girl Scout tent camping in the yard, singing around the campfire, jumping off the rope swing right across the cove and, of course, learning to ride jet skis at a young age when there were no boating laws enforced. The family has expanded to include Marisa's husband, A.J. Almadi., and their two beautiful children, Leo (3) and Farah (6 months). Lake Anna continues to be a great retreat and a special family gathering place for them.

June Fishing Report

By Charlie Bowles - Charlie@CVOfishing.com
Fishing Guide, Bass Pro Shops & Lowrance Pro-Staff

What a wet spring! Hopefully by the time you read this article the rain will calm down, at least a little bit... Anyway, we are headed into the early summer fishing patterns on Lake Anna and the fish are on the move. To deeper water that is, as the boat traffic picks up and the water temps reach into the upper 70's and 80's the fish will retreat to deeper water, only returning to the shallows to gorge themselves in the mornings and evenings.

Bass:

Post spawn is in full effect, spreading the bass out into many different places. Some are already into deep haunts, others schooling together near secondary points and humps. You can also limit out very quickly if you "hop" from point to point throwing swim baits, crank baits and spinner baits. Many times it will take 10 points to find one "good one". It's really a matter of being on whatever point they decide to feed on, whenever they decide to do so. There are also some more localized fish in deeper cover (15-30 ft). Tactics change dramatically when you decide to target these fish. You will want to use lighter line (8lb) and soft plastics. Shakey heads and texas rigs are king when targeting deeper cover. Locate deeper brush or dock pilings and reduce your retrieve to a crawl... The slower the better. Be very deliberate in where and how you present your bait, it could make the difference between catching fish or just catching a mean sunburn!

Striper

June marks the beginning of my favorite time of the year to catch high numbers of stripers. We have already been employing casting and trolling techniques to land 15-20 fish in the 5-12 lb range in an afternoon.... And it only gets better. The stripers will form huge (hundreds, maybe thousands of fish) schools in 30-40 ft of water during the day and move up on nearby humps and flats in the morning and evening. Zara Spooks, Poppers, jerkbaits and swimbaits will catch shallow feeding fish in the morning and evening. Catching a big, angry, aggressive striper on a top water plug is by far the most exciting fishing on Lake Anna. By the time the sun gets high and some of the boats are out and about, the fish go deep. There are two main ways to catch deeper stripers, one is to troll crankbaits (dd22's, stretch 20's etc.) and swimbaits while the other is to hang live bait over the schools. Both are very effective methods to catch limits of Lake Anna Stripers and then some.

Food Review: Mineral Restaurant

Mineral Restaurant is a short drive from Lake Anna, but well worth the trip. You can’t go wrong with what has become one of America’s staples: pizza. Sometimes I order just the cheese so I can savor every bit of flavor. Extremely reasonably priced (the 2 large cheese pizzas special is only $11.99!) and worth twice what you pay.

The crust is homemade, thin, and flavorful. The sauce is a little sweet and the mozzarella cheese is melted to perfection. Try it with your favorite toppings or simply enjoy the plain cheese.

Mineral Restaurant offers a full menu with sandwiches, subs, pasta and is one of the few establishments in the area to serve breakfast everyday.

This is an authentic small-town diner filled with locals that know where to eat. The staff are local folks earning a living and will treat you with a southern smile and you could easily become a local if you go there more than once. Joe and Vito are the owner/operators and you can find them there every day. Great conversation mixed with hard work keeps their seats filled day after day.

Please check online at LakeAnnaVisitorCenter.com for additional restaurant reviews, including this one, featured in the Top 20 Must Have Meals at Lake Anna!

Outdoor Living Rooms

One of the many advantages to lakeside living is the ability to capitalize on your outdoor space to maximize your lake potential. Many homes here at Lake Anna are built with the lake view in mind, which create spacious outdoor areas with beautiful views of the waterfront.

This feature of a lake home makes it necessary to not only have a traditional living room, but also an outdoor living room, where hopefully you’ll be able to spend time making memories. The possibilities are endless and your only limits are your own imagination...and budget!

With the advent of online shopping, we have an entire world of outdoor furniture virtually at our fingertips. These days, many options are made out of composite materials, making it more likely to endure the wear and tear from Mother Nature.

One only needs to venture onto Pinterest to find boards full of creative designs made from old wooden pallets, reclaimed wood, and other materials that are perfect for a weekend project.

Other items, including awnings, overhangs, and screened in areas can make the outdoor living room feel even more like a regular living room and provide some protection from weather and insects.

We’d love to see your creative outdoor living rooms! Tag Lake Anna Breeze on Facebook with your favorite photos and we’ll share our favorites!

The Closet Challenge by Heather Mechler-Fickes

After I could barely fit one more thing in my closet, I realized I needed to a major clean out. There was a time when I had a full walk in closet with multiple shelves and 2 complete racks to hold my wardrobe. My closet now is one shelf and a single rack, which can sometimes be a good thing. I periodically go through my stuff. At first the task of going through your clothes might seem a bit overwhelming but I have figured out a few tips that are helpful and make it easier.

First, take all your clothes out of the closet. This makes it possible for you to go through each piece. I hold up the piece and ask myself some questions.

Does it fit? So many times we hold on to an article of clothing that doesn’t fit in hopes that eventually it will, but the items are just taking up space.

Does this make me look great and do I love it? If you only keep the items that you enjoy wearing it will eliminate items in your wardrobe that are just okay and don’t make you feel and look fabulous.

Have I worn it in the last year? I realized I had a bunch of stuff in my closet that I hadn’t worn in years. I bought it and just never got around to wearing it or it didn’t look as great on me as it did on the hanger. I was just holding on to it because I had spent money on it and felt guilty for purchasing it. These items can get put in the donation pile. Sometimes it’s easier to get rid of something if you know someone else might be able to enjoy it.

Also I take a good look at the garment and look at the condition of it. Does it have stains, holes, or missing buttons? If an item is not in good repair, it’s time to throw it out.

These tips are extremely helpful when I go through my closet. I also follow these tips when I help my children sort through their clothes.
